ABOUT ME

Passionate about programming and audio as a creative mechanism for art, science, and technology. I consider myself a resourceful problem-solver who is capable of approaching challenges from different perspectives. I'm particularly interested in coding projects with an interdisciplinary and educational focus.

Beyond technical proficiency, I possess a keen eye for detail, and a proven ability to adapt to diverse contexts and collaborate effectively within various teams. I am committed to staying up-to-date with industry trends and exploring emerging technologies to continuously enhance my skills.
